Poster tips

- Text: Lettering for text and illustrations should be at least a font size of 36 points.
- Premise: Your poster should include three to five brief sentences outlining information necessary to understand the study and why it was done. The questions to be asked or the hypotheses to be tested should be clearly and succinctly stated.
- Methods: Outline your methods briefly, providing only details for new methods, or modifications of older methods.
- Graphics: Results presented in the form of a graph or chart are always more effective than blocks of text. Provide a legend for symbols and other detail.
- Conclusion: State the conclusion succinctly in large type.

Common errors

- The inability to read the poster from a distance of four feet.
- Too much information is presented.
- Objectives and conclusions are not clearly stated.

Consider preparing a summary handout for interested participants who stop by your poster. View the poster session as one continuous question and answer period where you will educate others and learn from your audience.
